Member News

Virginia Commissioner Tom Edmonds was awarded the NABE (National Association of Bar Executives) Bolton Award for Outstanding Bar Leadership. The Bolton Award, NABE's highest accolade, is presented annually to a bar executive who epitomizes the highest standard of professional excellence. It is named in honor of Fred Bolton, executive director and secretary of the Pennsylvania Bar Association from 1966 to 1977. Commissioner Edmonds is executive director and chief operating officer of the Virginia State Bar. He received the award during the NABE Annual Meeting in San Francisco, August 9-14. Congratulations Tom!

Update from ABA Annual Meeting

At its annual meeting this summer, the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association voted to approve the Revised Uniform Limited Liability Company Act. The resolution approving the ULLCA was sponsored by the ABA Business Law Section.

News from Chicago

Joan Hollick has recently joined the ULC staff as Legislative Assistant. Joan is taking over for Linley Thompson, who has left to pursue a master's degree in public policy. Joan is a recent graduate of Loyola University in Chicago, and will be providing support to the legislative staff. Many of you met and welcomed Joan while we were in Pasadena. You can reach Joan at 312-915-0195, or by email at joan.hollick@nccusl.org.
